GOVERNMENT OF INDIA
MINISTRY OF COMMERCE
PUBLIC NOTICE

SUBJECT.—Enhancement of value in licences granted under O.G.L. XI and XV Concessional Schemes for specified articles.

New Delhi, the 1st March, 1950

No. 1(15)-ITO/50.—It has been decided that in the case of licences issued for certain goods under the Open General Licences XI and XV Concessional Schemes, the value of the licences should be increased over and above the existing face value, except where the licences were originally issued in respect of goods covered by irrevocable letters of credit.

2. In order to exclude licences originally issued in respect of goods covered by irrevocable Letters of Credit the arrangements made in this Public Notice will not apply to licences —

(a) which have expired on or before the 25th February 1950;

(b) which were originally issued with a validity "for four months from the date of issue".

3. With these exceptions and with the exception noted in column 1 of the attached statement, licences issued under the Open General Licences XI and XV Concessional Schemes in respect of the goods noted in column 2 of the attached statement will be deemed to be valid for the amount noted in column 3 of the attached statement.

4. All licences the value of which is increased in accordance with the terms of this Public Notice will be considered to be valid for shipment on or before the 31st May 1950, for the value, as now increased, even in cases where the shipment date prescribed by the licence expires before 31st May 1950.

5. As it would take sometime to recall the licences in question and to substitute thereon the increased value for the existing face value, and as there is already only a short period of validity allowed for such licences which would be further shortened by recall and amendment in each case, it has been decided that such licences need not be returned to the licensing authorities for amendment. Licences issued under the Open General Licence Concessional Schemes have been clearly marked as such and the Customs and Exchange Control authorities have been instructed to consider them valid for the increased values permitted by this Public Notice without further amendment.
